Wednesday
7th Dec 2016 at the
AMRC Factory 2050

There's a lot of talk about the fourth industrial revolution (Industry 4.0), big data and the internet of things, but what does it all mean and is there anything in it for smaller companies?

On 7th December, the AMRC Forum will cut through the hype to bring you a no-nonsense, jargon-free guide to the technologies which are driving the fourth industrial revolution.

We'll demonstrate some of the most easily accessible technologies which any business could implement now and highlight some of the key benefits.

The venue for this event is the AMRC's newest development, Factory 2050 which is home to its Integrated Manufacturing Group (IMG).
